Be a Leader Beyond Reason

Reason is a wonderful thing and, yet, being reasonable is to play it cool, to limit expression, to follow the rules. It's time for you to shake the status quo – and here's how you can do it with presence, positioning and personal power.

Perception is Everything

People talk extensively about influence (and their desire for it). Few define it as strategic perception-shaping, much less offer tools to help ensure your own influence has maximum impact for positive change. Learn how to shape perception around your message..

Strategy Neutralizes Stress

In the absence of strategy, activity is profuse without meaningful achievement. Strategy helps people stretch past limitations and comfort zones and directs activity to be of impact toward the ultimate goal. Discover how strategy gets you maximum ROE (Return on Energy).
